Tactical Defensive Fund

TICKER Class A: ETRFX | Class C: ETFZX | Class I: ETFWX

INVESTMENT APPROACH

The Tactical Defensive Fund is a trend based strategy seeking capital appreciation while reducing the probability of meaningful loss.

TACTICAL ALLOCATION

A trend-based strategy with two components at work

COMPONENT 1:

CYCLICAL TRENDS

Designed to be fully invested during longer term growth cycles while becoming defensive during periods of decline

- Technical analysis focused on intermediate and long-term measures.
- Seeks to construct portfolio of 3–6 holdings.
- Adjust allocation consistent with market cycle. Can hold defensive ETFs when market conditions change.

COMPONENT 2:

SHORTER TERM TRENDS

Seeks short-term equity appreciation with a secondary emphasis on capital preservation during shorter term pullbacks

- Daily, technical measures determine equity risk levels.
- Seeks to construct portfolio of approximately 2–7 ETFs.

North Square Investments, LLC, the Fund's investment adviser, has contractually agreed to waive its fees and/or pay for or reimburse operating expenses of the Fund to ensure that total annual fund operating expenses (excluding any taxes, leverage interest, brokerage commissions, dividend and interest expenses on short sales, any acquired fund fees and expenses, expenses incurred in connection with any merger or reorganization, extraordinary expenses such as litigation expenses, and payments, if any, under a Rule 12b-1 Distribution Plan) do not exceed 1.70%, 1.70% and 1.70% of the average daily net assets of the Fund's Class A, Class C and Class I shares, respectively. This agreement is in effect until September 30, 2023, and it may be terminated before that date only by the Board of Trustees.

The Statistics presented are defined as follows: Beta is a measure of systematic risk, or the sensitivity of a manager to movements in the benchmark. A beta of 1 implies that you can expect the movement of a manager's return series to match that of the benchmark used to measure beta. Maximum Drawdown measures the largest percentage decline from a peak to a trough. Standard Deviation measures the average deviations of a return series from its mean, and is often used as a measure of risk. The Sharpe ratio measures the excess return per unit of deviation, or risk. Correlation is a measure of how investments move in relation to one another. A correlation of 1 means the two asset classes move exactly in line with each other, while a correlation of -1 means they move in the exact opposite direction. The index shown is defined as follows: The S&P 500 Index is the Standard & Poor's Composite Index of 500 stocks and is a widely recognized, unmanaged index of common stock prices. One cannot invest directly in an index. The Index is shown for comparative purposes only.

The Morningstar Target Risk Index family is designed to meet the needs of investors who would like to maintain a target level of equity exposure through a portfolio diversified across equities, bonds and inflation-hedged instruments. The Morningstar Moderate Target Risk Index, the Fund's benchmark, seeks approximately 60% global equity exposure. All Benchmarks composite data supplied by third party vendors, assumes re-investment of all dividends. Index is shown for comparative purposes only.

The Morningstar Rating for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange traded funds and open ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10- year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods.
