CURRENT PORTFOLIO POSITIONING

The North Square Tactical Growth Fund remained nearly fully invested during February. We cut our position in the Russell 2000 ETF early in the month. Our equity allocation remains diversified in small and large capitalization, growth and value, and broad blended ETFs. We still own a financial services ETF and our domestic equity holdings total 79.6% of the Fund. We added to our Eurozone ETF and opened a new position in a currency hedged European ETF. Our international equity total is now 7.1%. We added a small commodity position with the purchase of a gold mining ETF. We still own a 3-7 year U.S Treasury ETF. The cash in the portfolio, at 5.5% is approximately 3.5% above target and we are looking to put it to work. We are watching the long end of the yield curve closely as well as monitoring our current portfolio holdings.

Beta is a measure of systematic risk, or the sensitivity of a manager to movements in the benchmark. A beta of 1 implies that you can expect the movement of a manager’s return series to match that of the benchmark used to measure beta.

The Sharpe Ratio was developed by Nobel laureate William F. Sharpe and is used to help investors understand the return of an investment compared to its risk. The ratio is the average return earned in excess of the risk-free rate per unit of volatility or total risk.

Correlation is a measure of how investments move in relation to one another. A correlation of 1 means the two asset classes move exactly in line with each other, while a correlation of -1 means they move in the exact opposite direction. A correlation of zero means that the returns are completely uncorrelated, or a “non-correlated” asset.

A Yield Curve is a line that plots the yields or interest rates of bonds that have equal credit quality but different maturity dates. The slope of the yield curve is commonly thought to potentially predict the direction of interest rates and the subsequent economic expansion or contraction that may result.
